This time saving teacher KS1 Bug Club Guided Reading Planning Guide with teachers' cards helps you prepare, plan and lead your guided reading lessons and follow-up activities to extend children's learning and help little learners to build comprehension. Enter the world of bug builders! Bugs can build structures that complex as the ones that we build! Readers will learn about the amazing things creatures such as silkworms and beetles can build in this inviting nonfiction title features detailed photos, riveting facts, informational text, a glossary for vocabulary improvement, and a list of useful websites. This 6-Pack includes six copies of the Q title and a lesson plan that specifically supports Guided Reading instruction. Is something bugging you? Bestselling award-winner David Shannon shows the funny side of waging war against--oh no!--head lice. This book is guaranteed to make you laugh--and itch! From the opening picture of a happy, oversized louse appearing his suitcases, you know these bugs are determined to stay, and Mom is about to go nuts! Nobody talks about them, but they are everywhere. (Some estimate 20 million children a year host them.) Oh the shame and humiliation of having bugs in your hair! But if you go to school, or have play dates, chances are good you might meet them someday. Maybe you already have! Lucky for you, the unwelcome bugs in this story are so funny you will be laughing aloud--even when Mom attacks them with bat-tested anti-lice weapons. Shannon peppers his hilarious scenes with fun, "nitpicking" facts about these "lousy" critters and pokes fun at common denial: "It's probably from that volcano in Pogo Pogo." Soon the party's over--Bye bye, Little Nasties! Again Shannon has created a fresh, highly entertaining read-aloud classic that can be read again and again. Horrible Harry has always loved insects, especially digging in the dirt for them. And, recently, he's discovered a new favorite: earwigs! But when he tries to tell his friends about these critters, only Song Lee listens. So when Miss Galloway assigns groups in Room 3B to act out different fairy tales, Harry sees an opportunity to teach the class about his favorite bug. Will they think his play is hilarious...or horrible?

Real-life 7-year-old Sophia Spencer was bullied for loving bugs until hundreds of women scientists rallied around her. Now Sophie tells her inspiring story in this book that celebrates women in science, bugs of all kinds, and the importance of being true to yourself. Makes a perfect gift for nature lovers on Earth Day and every day. Sophia Spencer has loved bugs ever since a butterfly landed on her shoulder--and it wouldn't leave!--at a butterfly conservancy when she was only two-and-a-half years old. In preschool and kindergarten, Sophia was thrilled to share what she knew about grasshoppers (her very favorite insects), as well as ants and fireflies... but by first grade, not everyone shared her enthusiasm. Some students bullied her, and Sophia stopped talking about bugs altogether. When Sophia's mother wrote to an entomological society looking for a bug scientist to be a pen pal for her daughter and Sophie were overwhelmed by the enthusiastic response--letters, photos, and more--came flooding in. Using the hashtag BugsR4Girls, scientists tweeted hundreds of messages to tell Sophia to keep up her interest in bugs--and it worked! Sophia has since appeared on Good Morning America, The Today Show, and NPR, and she continues to share her love of bugs with others. Tap the power of emotional intelligence and watch your child's wide achievement soar "Bringing all this information together in one spot is quite a contribution. There isn't too much research or theory here, but lots of practical advice. If you don't know the difference between a bridle and a saddle but your child dreams of riding horses, this informative guide will answer all of your most pressing questions. Elise Gaston Chand provides informed and sensible tips on finding qualified instructors, the cost of lessons, safety concerns, and much more. Learn what to watch for as your child's riding progresses, confidently steer your child toward rewarding competition experiences, and take pride in all of your child's riding achievements. Also learn more about plants, animals, insects, and their relationships with one another in the natural world! Workflow: Students will read 10 pages in their book and then complete each section of the Teacher Guide. They should be encouraged to complete as many of the activities and projects as possible as time allows. Tests are given at regular intervals with space to record each grade. If used with younger students, they may be given the option of only choosing activities or projects of interest to them and taking open book tests. Lesson Scheduling: Students are instructed to read the pages in their book and then complete the corresponding section provided by the teacher. Assessments that may include worksheets, activities, quizzes, and tests are given at regular intervals with space to record each grade. Space is provided for a weekly schedule for assignment dates, and flexibility in scheduling is encouraged. Teachers may adapt the scheduled days per each unique student situation. As the student completes each assignment, this can be marked with an "X" in the box.

Good, the bad, the ugly. Hello Reader! Level 1. Here is the book that started the phenomenon! Inside each bright box are bugs to count from one to ten. Bugs fall, fly, laugh and learn as they lift open the boxes and find colorful, comical bugs that pop out, run, eat -- and even swim! How Many Bugs in a Box? will keep children counting over and over again. Originally published: New York: Golden Books, 1999.
